From the Artistic Directors

We're still here! We're still creating! And that's because of you. Thank you for being here tonight and for your continued support of our theatre.

We think you're really going to enjoy tonight's performers. There's so much local talent, and one of the best parts of our job is being part of the creative process that feeds the soul and brings joy to the performer. In turn, that performer gifts the audience with some of their soul and their joy, and the audience gives back with their attention and their energy.

It's the beauty of live theatre – a shared experience that happens in the present and can never be exactly replicated. It's one of those "you had to be there to understand it" moments.

And you are here. Thank you.

Enjoy the show,

Julie and Markus

Music Director Sheila Herod

Sheila was awarded Professor Emeritus status upon her retirement from Navarro College. Last year, she won the Spotlight Award from Texas Nonprofit Theatres for her many years of service to community theatres and artists. She is still an adjunct professor at Texas A&M Commerce, teaching weekly classes. In her long career, she has served on numerous nonprofit and arts related boards, and has been music director and accompanist for more shows than she can name. Perhaps, most importantly, she is Suggie to six grandchildren.
